

Human Services

Communications Update

C.L. Lopez, Communications Officer

In the past month, human services departments seemed to be everywhere. Human Services employees were recognized during Public Service recognition week and several departments marked the month of May with awareness activities. The Department of Behavioral Health hosted a number of community activities that garnered media coverage throughout the month from art exhibits to screenings of award winning videos created by high school and college students that addressed the stigma that comes with mental illness. These events were a great way to educate the community about their services and those whom they serve.

It was refreshing to see what department staff has been able to accomplish when working together to educate the community of their services. We look forward to what is to come this summer with our upcoming awareness events.
